Ralph Warren Stanley's First Lion's Head Violin Scroll

Identifier: 11881

Title: Ralph Warren Stanley's First Lion's Head Violin Scroll

Type: Image, Photograph

Subject: Object, Musical, Stringed Instrument, Fiddle, Violin

Description: Ralph built his first violin, the Underwood violin, in 1955 using a birch stair tread from the demolished Underwood cottage, Squirrelhurst. The tradition of Lions Head scrolls goes as far back as at least the 17th Century when Austrian Jakob Stainer, one of the great violin makers of all times made his Lions Head scroll violins.

Ralph Stanley's Albino Violin

Identifier: 14445

Title: Ralph Stanley's Albino Violin

Type: Reference

Subject: Object, Musical, Stringed Instrument, Fiddle, Violin

Description: Ralph built his third violin, the Albino Violin in 2009. As with his first two violins, Ralph carved a Lions Head scroll for it. He says this violin is the best so far. The top is carved (not steamed) cedar wood and the bottom is carved poplar wood. He carved the lower block and top nut from old ebony piano keys. Vittoria (Vitelli) McIlhenny, Mrs. Alan McIlhenny of Northeast Harbor, purchased the White Violin for her collection in 2010.

Spurling Violin

Identifier: 14447

Title: Spurling Violin

Type: Reference

Subject: Object, Musical, Stringed Instrument, Fiddle, Violin

Description: "Meanwhile I played a violin that I had bought from Millard Spurling. This violin had a mother of pearl inlay on the back. Millard had bought the violin from George Joy [George Jacob Joy (1861-1936)], who I believe taught school at Great Cranberry Island. Millard had intentions of learning to play but never did. After his wife died he had a lady friend at Ellsworth who had a daughter going to school who wanted to take violin lessons so he let her borrow it. When he got it back it was damaged. He had it for a number of years before he sold it to me. I repaired it and that gave me something to play while I scraped the varnish off the one I made. I intended to re-varnish but didnt get to it so it set around in this condition for years.

While playing at the Grange Hall at Northport I miss-stepped and fell off the stage with the Spurling violin in my hand. I was not hurt but the top was in splinters." - "Fiddle Making" by Ralph Warren Stanley, 2010. Ralph has since repaired the "Spurling Violin."
