Main Street Looking North - Southwest Harbor

Identifier: 5680

Title: Main Street Looking North - Southwest Harbor

Type: Image, Photograph, Picture Postcard, Real Photo

Subject: Places, Town

The J.C. Ralph Building is the first structure.

One of the old street lights and the Southwest Harbor Public Library wall are visible beyond the Ralph building.

The building after the library property is the Freeman J. Lurvey building - now 334 Main Street.

Buildings on the Right:

The rustic porch of the later demolished Elisha Crane House is visible on corner of Clark Point Road.

The sign for what is now Clark Point Road refers to Steamboat Wharf, which is now part of the US Coast Guard property at the end of Clark Point Road.

The horse drinking fountain is in the street in front of it.

The Southwest Harbor School House as Harmon Block is the large white block-like building.

The bell tower on the old Freeman Grammar School, now Harbor House, can be seen behind the Harmon Block.

The small building at the far right was the George Gilley plumbing shop (later The Gilley Plumbing Company) at what is now 315 Main Street.

Title: View of Bass Harbor from the Underwood Water Tower

Subject: Places, Town

Places, Harbor

Description: The building with the tower in the distant background was the Charles B. Dix / Simeon Amassa Holden house and the stable (now moved) is the large building in the field behind it.

The boathouse for that property, the Captain Charles B. Dix (1836-1906) Boat House, is on the white house directly on the shore next to the large clump of trees. It was the Lyle Arlington Reed house at the time the picture was taken - 143 Harbor Drive (Route 102A), Tremont, Maine.

The building out on the spit is Little Island Marine, begun after WWII c. 1945-1946.

The business on the shore just to the right of the wharf building was Lyle Arlington Reeds store - 35 Shore Road, Bass Harbor (formerly McKinley), Maine.

The small brown house in the middle of the large lot at the right, almost at the corner of McMullen Avenue and the Shore Road belonged to George Al Lovejoy (1903-1964). The house is now gone. It probably sat on the 9 McMullen Avenue property, Map 12 Lot 44.

The large building in the right foreground was owned by H.G. Reed and housed the Post Office on the ground floor facing the Shore Road 45 Shore Road, Bass Harbor, Maine Map 12 Lot 43

The building at the left foreground was W.H. Thurston's General Store later the Seafood Ketch restaurant 47 Shore Road Map 12 Lot 42.

Title: Clark Point Road - View to West to Main Street Bandstand
Subject: Places, Town
Description: A. L. [Arthur A.] Gilley's barber shop is on the left - a small building which forms but a fraction of the structure. It is possible that, at the time this photograph was taken, Maurice Marshall was renting the barber shop.

The gasoline pumps shown on the right are in what is now the Post Office parking lot. The bandstand can just be seen across Main Street in the back of the photograph.

The automobile is definitely c. 1925-1926 - very possibly a 1925 Maxwell 5 Passenger Sedan. To read about the Maxwell Motor Car Company - See Maxwell Motor and the Making of the Chrysler Corporation by Anthony J. Yanik, published by Wayne State University Press, 2009.

Subject: Places, Shore

Description: This postcard photograph is valuable to historians interested in Manset, Maine. The image shown here has, therefore, been cleaned for study. The original postcard, untouched, remains in the collection, as do all other images, in its original, scanned version. When archivists enlarged the photograph for study they could see that the original photograph had been altered before printing to blank out the sky. The area above the horizon was removed.

The Mayo Picture Theater / The Park Theater - Southwest Harbor

Identifier: 11185

Title: The Mayo Picture Theater / The Park Theater - Southwest Harbor

Subject: Structures, Civic, Performing Arts, Theater

Description: The advertisement for the film Abraham Lincoln A First National Picture on the side of the theater building dates this photograph. This version of the Abraham Lincoln story, a short, was filmed in 1924, produced by Lee DeForest, directed by J. Searle Dawley and featured actor, Frank McGlynn Sr. as Abraham Lincoln.

The car on the left is a c. 1922 4-Door Sedan.

The car in the middle is a c. 1920 4-Door Sedan.

The car on the right is a c. 1920 4-Door Touring Car.

The stairs, just visible, at the left of the theater building are the front steps of St. Johns Episcopal Church at 319 Main Street.

The peak of the Southwest Harbor High School (later the Harbor House building) is just visible behind the left utility pole. The school building is at 339 Main Street,
